A THOUGHT .- I remember that Adam Smith and Gibbon had told us that there would never again be a destruction of civilization by barbarians. The flood, they said, would no more return to cover the earth ; and they seemed to reason justly, for they compared the immense strength of the civilized part of the world with the weakness of that part which remained savage, and ask-ed from whence were to come those Huns, and from situation in some respectable business. whence were to come those Vandals, who were to again destroy civilization. Alas! it did not occur to them that, in the very heart of great capitals, in the very neighborhood of splendid palaces, and churches, and theatres, and libraries, and museums, vice, and ignorance, and misery might produce a race of Huns fiercer

The Tripartite Treaty between the United States and the Creeks and the Seminoles, residing west of the Mississippi, is considered one of the most important ever concluded with the aboriginal tribes. The Senate recently ratified it, with amendments. It appropriates $899,000, for which a bill has passed the Senate, and awaits the action of the House. These Creeks and Semtholes surrender lands to such Seminoles in Florida as may remove West, while the treaty secures to the last, one heavy gold guard-chain and seals, and two on that condition, certain pecuniary and civil advantagovernment, independently of association with any other tribes—a failure to obtain which has been a prom-

"WELCOME LITTLE STRANGER."-In rambling through a Dutch town, you will occasionally see a small prece of paper pasted against the street door, and this, upon closer inspection, you will find to be a medical Bulletin, informing you of that day's health of some "little stranger" and its mother health of some "little stranger" and its mother within. Should you happen to pass the same way inst., at 12 o'clock noon, I shall offer for sale at requested to present the same immediately to Asher In American, English, French & German Merchandise, 00 another such Bulletin issued on the doorpost and Battes payable in cont.
